About

Context:

"Whilst threats to our security and safety are nothing new, I don't think there has ever been a time where the range of those threats, potential sources and methods of delivery have ever been greater. The challenge to police and security professionals in maintaining pace with these developments cannot be overestimated."

- Sir Paul Stephenson Kt QPM, Fmr. Commissioner, Metropolitan Police

As we enter a new decade, debate and discussion about the UK's National Security priorities are more relevant than ever. From spending reviews, countering home-grown extremism, embedding effective cybersecurity, protecting our borders and updating legislature, no stone remains unturned.

We must make sure we're prepared to adapt to the new world surrounding us.

Join senior law enforcement delegates from across blue light services, central government and the wider public sector at the 7th Annual National Security Summit.
